Team evaluation

Write the name of each of your group members in a separate column. For each person, indicate the score to which you agree with the statement using the rating scale below. Extreme scores (1 and 5) will need to be justified with comments as they are reserved for extraordinary events (lack of participation or going above and beyond, respectively).

Rating Scale

- 1 - Did not contribute in this way
- 2 - Willing but not very successful
- 3 - Average
- 4 - Above Average
- 5 - Outstanding

Feedback on team dynamics

1. How effectively did your team work?

Our team worked very effectively throughout the assignment. We established clear communication from the outset, shared responsibilities fairly and ensured that each member understood their contribution to the final submission. Team members were supportive, reliable and willing to exchange ideas, which enabled us to complete the assignment successfully. We respected different perspectives and used our individual strengths to improve the overall quality of the work. Regular communication also helped us monitor progress, address issues promptly and ensure that all contributions were integrated into a coherent final submission.

2. Were there any behaviours of your team members which were particularly valuable or detrimental to the team? Explain.

The most valuable behaviours within the team were effective communication, mutual respect, reliability and willingness to support one another. Team members actively contributed ideas, responded constructively to suggestions and completed their allocated tasks within the agreed timescales. I particularly valued the openness with which members shared their knowledge and provided constructive feedback on each other's contributions. There were no significant detrimental behaviours that negatively affected the team. Where members had different opinions, these were discussed professionally and resolved through constructive dialogue. This demonstrated the importance of respecting different perspectives when working towards a common academic objective.

3. What did you learn about working in a team from this project that you will carry into your next group/team experience?

This project reinforced the importance of communication, collaboration, accountability and effective time management in successful teamwork. I learnt that allocating responsibilities according to individual strengths can improve both efficiency and the quality of the outcome. I also recognised the importance of listening carefully to other team members, remaining open to constructive feedback and addressing differences of opinion respectfully. In future group projects, I will continue to communicate regularly, complete my responsibilities on time, support colleagues where necessary and actively contribute to collective decision-making. Overall, this experience strengthened my appreciation of teamwork as a valuable professional skill and demonstrated how effective collaboration can produce stronger outcomes than working independently.

My greatest strengths as a team member are:

My greatest strengths as a team member are effective communication, reliability, cooperation and respect for other people's ideas and perspectives. I contribute actively to discussions, complete allocated tasks within agreed deadlines and remain willing to support colleagues when required. I am also receptive to constructive feedback and able to work collaboratively towards shared objectives. I believe my positive attitude, sense of responsibility and commitment to producing high-quality work contribute to an effective and supportive team environment.

The group work skills I plan to work to improve are:

I plan to improve my confidence in taking a more active leadership role during group activities, particularly in coordinating tasks and facilitating discussions. I would also like to strengthen my ability to manage differing viewpoints and contribute more confidently to decision-making when the team faces competing ideas. In future group projects, I will focus on developing these skills while continuing to improve my communication, time management and ability to provide constructive feedback to colleagues.
